

What will our local heaths look like in the future?

For the next 100 years, we will see a lot of changes in our local heaths. This is because of climate change and the way we use the land.

WATER

Water is a vital resource for our heaths. In the future, we may see less rain and more drought. This could mean that the plants and animals that live there will struggle to survive.

HEATHS IN THE FUTURE

By 2050, our heaths may look very different. The plants and animals that live there may struggle to survive because of the changes in the environment.
